

Learning and Teaching using ICT

A exemplar pack featuring interactive CD-ROM and printed material, designed to promote best practice in primary education, part of a DfES National Strategy.

For CfBT .

A double award-winner at the British Universities Film and Video Council Awards

This was the biggest single multimedia project undertaken by the Department for Education and Skills, and deemed top priority by both DfES and Ofsted.

The package includes interactive games, lesson outlines and videos of lessons showing good practice. The resources were also made available on-line, complete with links to useful websites.

With such a major project it is vital that the end-product works for its target audience. The approval process went through 3 trial versions which were released to test schools. We then went on to produce the integrated website.

'Learning and Teaching using ICT' won not only the 'Learning on Screen 2005 Training Award' at the British Universities Film and Video Council Awards but also the 'Premier Award' - the highest award for non-broadcast entries.
